

OHIO GREETES PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

Grand Jury Hears Manslaughter Case 80,000 HEAR F.D.R. IN DETROIT SPEECH

COLUMBUS MAN CHARGED WITH TRAFFIC DEATH

Robbery Complaint Also Placed Before Group For Consideration

ONE-DAY SESSION SEEN

Former Police Chief Named September Term Foreman

Grand jurors of the September term of court went into session Friday morning. The clerk's office reported 14 cases on file for consideration and 21 names on the witness list.

Two changes were made in the original jury list. H. S. Denny, Circleville township, drawn on the original list, is deceased. Homer Quillian, of Walnut township, was appointed to fill the vacancy. Mrs. Earl Wittmer, W. Union street, was appointed to replace Florence M. Bowers, of Washington township, who failed to report.

Former Chief Foreman William H. Warner, former Circleville police chief, is foreman. Other members of the jury are C. H. Razon and Edward Hudson, Scioto township; Mrs. Marvin Steeley, Washington township; Lewis Gantz, Ho Creamer and Haldy Wintough, Darby township; Charlotte Owens, Fourth Ward; Lou F. Avis, Third Ward; E. B. Hay, Madison township; Mrs. F. A. Beatty, Muhlenberg township; John Wolford, Pickaway township, and George Wardell, Wayne township. Prosecutor Ray Davis said he hoped to finish the session Friday afternoon. At noon he said no cases had been reported on "information." Since this is the first session of the jury during the present term of court it will make an inspection of the county jail.

Huston Faces Charges

Frank Huston, Columbus, was bound to the grand jury under a second degree manslaughter charge as the result of an automobile accident on Route 23 on Sept. 27 in which Lawrence Saylor, 18, of Monroe, Mich., was fatally injured.

Charles Ramsey, 28, of Circleville, and Howard Conley, 33, of Salt Lake, Ky., were bound to the jury on charges of robbing Henry McKenzie, of Cedar Hill, of $3 in cash and a check for $11.50 on the night of Sept. 7.

SECOND MEMBER OF HI-HAT CLUB TAKES OWN LIFE

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Similarity in the suicides, almost two years apart, of two members of a club for rich men's sons sent police working today on a scientific experiment in an effort to trace the gun with which C. T. Everett Jr., shot himself to death in his home yesterday.

Experts in the police department laboratory would not reveal the process by which they hoped to bring out serial numbers which had been filed from the .32 caliber gun found clutched in the dead youth's hand. The numbers had been obliterated not more than 24 hours before the suicide, the experts said.

It was the same type of gun which killed Sidney Born, young president of the secretive Hi-Hat club, two years ago in an aftermath of the John H. Gorrell, Jr., slaying by another member of the club, Phil Kennamer.

DUPONT ADMITS HUGE FUND FOR G. O. P. CAMPAIGN

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Lammot Du Pont's contribution of $105,000 to the Republican campaign fund, as cited by Democratic leaders as "merely a moderate part" of his contributions to date, he told the United Press today.

Senator Joseph P. Guffey's figures on my campaign contributions were correct as far as they went," he said. "But since then I have given considerably more. I don't have the exact figures at hand. But the total is very substantially more than $105,000."

Guffey, in New York, listed total contributions by Du Pont and his associates of $383,000.

Lammot Du Pont said he "had no way of knowing" how much other members of his family had contributed, and that he could verify Guffey's figures only in connection with his own gifts.

Pierre S. Du Pont, listed as giving $54,000 issued a statement saying that the figure "appears to be substantially correct." He pointed out that he supported Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932 "with moderate contributions," but that he had changed his allegiance because of "dissatisfaction with the administration's policies in violation of campaign promises under which I had enlisted."

Lammot Du Pont's statement said that "in these days of radio publicity, large sums of money are needed to spread important information to the voters. The more money, the more information spread and the more votes to oust the New Deal."

53 TAKEN FROM JAPANESE SHIP IN FAR PACIFIC

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 16.—The freighter Concordia was speeding to Keelung today with 54 survivors of the Moko Maru, which sank 10 miles off Pineda point in the northern Luzon area yesterday.

The Moko Maru sent out distress signals early yesterday and several ships came to her assistance while she limped toward safety.

She went down with a load of iron ore before repairs could be made and the Concordia saved the crew members. No passengers were aboard.

MAN'S EXAMINATION TAKES LONG WHILE; THE REASON?

CLEVELAND, Oct. 16.—(UP)—When police examined a man arrested on suspicion they found he wore two overcoats, three suit coats, two pairs of trousers, three caps, and three pairs of shoes on his shoes. In his pockets were: a whistle, three safety razors, two padlocks, a butcher knife, two spoons, a six-inch stiletto, used razor blades, three pocket knives, and two dog's teeth.

200 ATTEND MEETING

Jackson Man Re-elected to Head Group Four Again

"The best meeting in the history of Group Four of the Ohio Bankers' association" was the title given today to the gathering of 200 bankers and friends at the Pickaway Country Club, Thursday. Annual meetings are assigned to various counties each year, Jackson winning the conference in 1937.

The last Group Four meeting held in Circleville was nine years ago, and many of the bankers who attended at that time recalled its success when conferring at the Country Club Thursday.

All officers of the Group, including John H. Newwahrer of Jackson First National bank, president; M. G. Harover of the Bank of Manchester, Manchester, vice president; and H. G. Hudson, cashier of the Clinton County National Bank and Trust Co., Wilmington, secretary-treasurer.

Amendment Discussed The general theme of the meeting was the proposed amendment to the Ohio Constitution to eliminate double liability of the stockholders of corporations authorized to receive money on deposit.

"The federal government has taken this step by abolishing double liability on national bank stock," Samuel H. Squire, state superintendent of banks, told the bankers of the 13 counties, "and Ohio should join the 22 other states which are in agreement. The abolition of such liability would make it possible for banks to build up their capital structures as a stronger protection to depositors."

LONDON TO DASH INTO CALIFORNIA

6,000-mile Tour to End in Kansas Last Night Before Election

TOPEKA, Kans., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon announced today the most spectacular maneuver in his campaign for the presidency — A dash to Los Angeles next week "to carry California" for the Republican ticket.

It will be part of a 6,000-mile tour in less than two weeks that will keep the Republican nominee on the campaign firing line until election eve. He will cross half the nation to the Pacific coast, return eastward through Oklahoma, continue through the midwest and across the Alleghenies to the eastern seaboard, and wind up his campaign in St. Louis and Kansas.

Seven Talks Listed It will include speeches at Los Angeles, Oct. 20; Oklahoma City about Oct. 23; Indianapolis Oct. 24; Philadelphia Oct. 26; Pittsburgh Oct. 27; New York City Oct. 29, and St. Louis Oct. 31.

"We are going to carry California," Gov. Landon said in announcing his climactic campaign drive.

He will set out on one of the most aggressive presidential campaign tours of many years on Sunday night, only three days after concluding his journey across the major battlefields of Ohio, Illinois, Michigan and Indiana. He will not stop until he casts a vote on election day at the polling place in a garage on the main street of his home town, Independence, Kans.

MARLEN PEW DEAD

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Arrangements were made today for a private funeral service for Marlen Edwin Pew, 58, widely known newspaper man, who died yesterday following an operation for a throat ailment.

CROWDED streets, with torn paper filling the air in a festive atmosphere, greeted President Roosevelt in Grand Rapids as he made a one-day campaign through Michigan on the heels of his opponent, Gov. Alfred M. Landon. The G. O. P. presidential nominee departed from Grand Rapids just a half hour before the president arrived. Photo shows presidential party driving through downtown Grand Rapids.

ROTES SATURDAY FOR VICTIM OF MOTOR ACCIDENT

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at the home of H. H. Crabbe, London, for O. M. "Bud" Tootle, 37, native of Williamsport, who died in a Columbus hospital Thursday after an automobile-truck accident.

Mrs. Virgil Price, 35, wife of a London motion picture theatre operator, was killed instantly in the collision which happened early in the morning near West Jefferson.

Mr. Tootle was born in Williamsport a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tootle. His mother still lives in Williamsport. He is survived, also, by his widow, Mrs. Helen White Tootle, who was seriously hurt in the tragic accident; three brothers and two sisters, Earl of Lilley Chapel, Clyde of Williamsport, Mert of New Holland. Mrs. H. H. Crabbe of London, Mrs. Victor Ater and Mrs. Frank Carter, both of Williamsport.

Mrs. Price is survived by her husband, a son, 13, her mother and a sister.

Following his graduation from the Williamsport high school, Mr. Tootle taught school for a time, alone, and then stumbled, half fainting, to the roof of her four-story tenement where her parents live, and dropped the child to the ground.

She sobbed softly when the jury filed in last night, and slipped fainting to the floor when the verdict was announced.

HOOVER TO TALK ON AIR TONIGHT AT 8:45 O'CLOCK

BY UNITED PRESS The following radio political programs are scheduled for today: 8:45 p. m.—9:30 p. m., E. S. T.—Former President Herbert Hoover speaking from Philadelphia, over NBC red network.

10:30 to 10:45 p. m.—Roosevelt Progress Program—T. F. Noblett of Progressive National committee; Lewis Corin, commander of Veterans of Future Wars; Mrs. Albertas Haycraft, director, Minnesota Good Neighbor League and John Wheeler, speaking from New York over CBS network.

EFFORT TO END SCHOOL'S MUD FIGHTS VOTED DOWN

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., Oct. 16.—(UP)—The faculty of Stanford university suggested that freshmen and sophomores discontinue to end their annual mud fight because it is "too rough, even for football players." The classes voted down the suggestion, 550 to 150.

BURNS PROVE FATAL

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Burns received Tuesday when a gasoline stove exploded at her home near Washington C. H., caused the death of Mrs. Louise Stephenson, 23, in a hospital here last night.

ROTARY OBTAINS $641.50 IN DRIVE FOR FALL EVENT

Robert G. Colville, Pumpkin Show director, announced Friday Rotarians had reported $641.50 in their soliciting drive for the show.

Many solicitors have not filed their complete reports, he said, and he urged them to report as soon as possible. Show directors hope to obtain over $1,000 in the drive.

UNWED MOTHER FOUND GUILTY IN CHILD DEATH

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Elizabeth Smith, 18-year-old unwed mother was convicted today of killing her new-born babe. A jury found her guilty of second degree manslaughter, without recommendation of mercy. She faces a possible 15-year maximum sentence. Her punishment will be fixed Oct. 22.

The state had not asked the electric chair for the frail girl who, in shame and terror, bore her child, alone, and then stumbled, half fainting, to the roof of her four-story tenement where her parents live, and dropped the child to the ground.

She sobbed softly when the jury filed in last night, and slipped fainting to the floor when the verdict was announced.

Women in the courtroom cried when she was led away.

Four Addresses Scheduled as Train Travels Through State on Way to New York for Continuation of Election Campaign

ABOARD ROOSEVELT CAMPAIGN TRAIN, IN OHIO, Oct. 16.—(UP)—President Roosevelt entered Ohio today, supremely confident that the election was all over but the shouting. Through key cities of this "doubtful state" he carried a message of New Deal economic and social gains.

The President came to Ohio from Michigan where he had been cheered by enthusiastic demonstrations, capped by one of major proportions in Detroit last night. He was confident that he would carry Michigan as he was that he would be re-elected.

Today the president speaks in Cincinnati, Springfield, Columbus, and Cleveland. No speech is "major." Tomorrow he campaigns in upstate New York, delivering an important address in Albany tomorrow night. After 24 hours rest at Hyde Park he will return to Washington.

80,000 Hear Speech

Detroit police estimated that 80,000 persons heard Mr. Roosevelt's speech in Cadillac Square in Detroit last night, and other estimates ran as high as 150,000. The square was black with a crowd that overflowed into intersecting streets, that hung from the windows and roofs of hotels and office buildings. With the exception of the crowd that greeted Mr. Roosevelt in Chicago, it was the largest of his current campaign trip.

Speaking to what observers considered a predominantly labor audience, Mr. Roosevelt pledged new gains for labor from the New Deal.

He said: "Detroit today is a very different city from what it was three years ago, and while the wheels of industry turn fast and unemployment is very greatly decreased, there are many problems not yet solved. I do not accept the conclusion of many Republican leaders that major depressions are inevitable in modern life. It is not enough that we have ended the days of 1932 when workers in this city received for their labor as low as five or six dollars for two weeks work. It is not enough that we

NORMA SHEARER PAST CRISIS IN SERIOUS ILLNESS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Norma Shearer, recently widowed screen star, was seriously ill at her Santa Monica beach home today, suffering from bronchial pneumonia.

The actress, it was learned, became ill several days ago, shortly after the death of her husband, Producer Irving Thalberg.

Her physician, Dr. Verne Mason, said Miss Shearer is past the worst stage of her illness and that her condition is "satisfactory."

Miss Shearer was scheduled to appear in Superior court today to present her husband's will for probate. The will is to be presented by a representative, it was understood. Thalberg's $10,000,000 estate was left to Miss Shearer and their two children, Irving, Jr., 6, and Katherine, 1. Thalberg died of lobar pneumonia on Sept. 14.

BRITISH WOMAN ENDS HAZARDOUS AIRPLANE FLIGHT

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Jean Batten, British woman flier, arrived today, completing the first solo flight from England to New Zealand, the first woman to fly the 1,200-mile stretch over the Tasman sea. Miss Batten was met at the air field by a large and enthusiastic crowd.

CLEVENGER SUES HOTEL IN DEATH OF YOUNG NIECE

The Clevenger family was well known in the Kingston community.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Operators of the Bathing Park hotel where pretty Helen Clevenger, New York university co-ed was killed, faced a $20,000 damage suit today.

C. D. Clevenger, the 22-year-old girl's uncle who is a professor at North Carolina State college, filed suit as the administrator of the estate, charging "gross negligence."

The suit alleges the hotel permitted pass keys to be distributed indiscriminately, failed to guard the hallways properly and left the hotel door to the hotel open.

These alleged acts of negligence made it possible, the suit said, for Martin Moore, Negro hall boy, to enter Miss Clevenger's room, and kill her.

Miss Clevenger was killed shortly after midnight June 16 during an electrical storm. For five weeks the crime was an insoluble mystery to police and county officers. They called in two New York detectives who soon afterwards arrested Moore and obtained a confession from him.

MRS. RYAN DIES AT 52; FUNERAL SUNDAY AT 2:30

Mrs. Sylvia Mae Ryan, 52, wife of Samuel Ryan of Ashville, died Thursday at 5 p. m. of heart disease. She was a native of Harrison township, born in 1884, a daughter of William and Martha Jane Redman England.

Surviving are the husband; a daughter, Mrs. A. L. Hallars of Ashville, and a sister, Mrs. John Barch of Harrison township.

The funeral will be Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the residence with the Rev. H. D. Fudge officiating. Burial will be in South Bloomfield cemetery by E. F. Schiegl.

LE MAY ESTATE BEQUEATHED TO FIVE CHILDREN

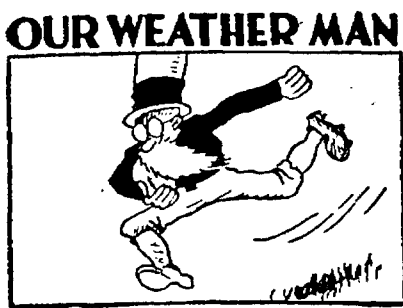

Five children share equally under the will of Edward Lemay, of Monroe township, filed and probated Thursday in probate court.

The will directs all property be converted into cash. Those who will share the estate, estimated at $10,000, are John Lemay, Williamsport; Clarence Lemay, Gregory, Mich.; Mrs. Blanche Gill, Columbus; Mrs. Edith Campbell, Nelsonville, and Mrs. Jessie Garwick, Columbus.

C. M. Neff of Mt. Sterling is executor. Appraisers are O. J. Ray, J. E. Gill and N. K. Cook.

HAL ROSSON WEDS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 16.—(UP)—The marriage of Hal Rossen, husband of screen star Jean Harlow, to Miss Yvonne Gray, Beverly Hills actress, was closed today by friends of the couple.

200 ATTEND MEETING

Jackson Man Re-elected to Head Group Four Again

"The best meeting in the history of Group Four of the Ohio Bankers' association" was the title given today to the gathering of 200 bankers and friends at the Pickaway Country Club, Thursday. Annual meetings are assigned to various counties each year, Jackson winning the conference in 1937.

The last Group Four meeting held in Circleville was nine years ago, and many of the bankers who attended at that time recalled its success when conferring at the Country Club Thursday.

All officers of the Group, including John H. Newvahn of Jackson First National bank, president; M. G. Harover of the Bank of Manchester, Manchester, vice president; and H. G. Hudson, cashier of the Clinton County National Bank and Trust Co., Wilmington, secretary-treasurer.

Amendment Discussed
The general theme of the meeting was the proposed amendment to the Ohio Constitution to eliminate double liability of the stockholders of corporations authorized to receive money on deposit.

"The federal government has taken this step by abolishing double liability on national bank stock," Samuel H. Squire, state superintendent of banks, told the bankers of the 13 counties, "and Ohio should join the 22 other states which are in agreement. The abolition of such liability would make it possible for banks to build up their capital structures as a stronger protection to depositors."

SATURDAY IS NAMED "HARVEST DAY" AT HOME AND HOSPITAL

Saturday has been designated as "Harvest Day" for the benefit of the Home and Hospital, W. Huston street.

Every year a certain day is named at which time donations of any kind, including canned goods, groceries, etc., will be accepted. Members of the hospital board will be in the county engineer's office to receive contributions.

The Home and Hospital has been a Circleville institution for many years. In later years it has become a rest home.

Democrats to Rally To Hear Hill, Durbin

Democrats, several hundred strong, are expected to gather in Memorial Hall at 8 o'clock this evening for one of the outstanding rallies of the waning days of the election drive. The major gathering is planned October 30 when a torchlight parade will be staged.

Lister Hill, fiery Alabama congressman, will be the featured speaker at Friday evening's rally. He is reputed to be one of the best speakers touring the country in the interests of the administration. Pickaway counties need no introduction to Mr. Hill because hundreds of them heard him speak four years ago from the same platform.

Francis Durbin of Kenton, son of W. W. Durbin, registrar of the treasury, and in his own right one of Ohio's ablest orators, will share honors with Hill. Mr. Durbin, who

Robert G. Colville, Pumpkin Show director, announced Friday Rotarians had reported $641.50 in their soliciting drive for the show. Many solicitors have not filed their complete reports, he said, and he urged them to report as soon as possible. Show directors hope to obtain over $1,000 in the drive.

UNWED MOTHER FOUND GUILTY IN CHILD DEATH

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Elizabeth Smith, 18-year-old unwed mother was convicted today of killing her new-born babe. A jury found her guilty of second degree manslaughter, without recommendation of mercy. She faces a possible 15-year maximum sentence. Her punishment will be fixed Oct. 22.

The state had not asked the electric chair for the frail girl who, in shame and terror, bore her child, alone, and then stumbled, half fainting, to the roof of her four-story tenement where her parents live, and dropped the child to the ground. She sobbed softly when the jury filed in last night, and slipped fainting to the floor when the verdict was announced.

Women in the courtroom cried when she was led away.

EFFORT TO END SCHOOL'S MUD FIGHTS VOTED DOWN

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., Oct. 16.—(UP)—The faculty of Stanford university suggested that freshmen and sophomores discontinue to end their annual mud fight because it is "too rough, even for football players." The classes voted down the suggestion, 550 to 150.

Four Addresses Scheduled as Train Travels Through State on Way to New York for Continuation of Election Campaign

ABOARD ROOSEVELT CAMPAIGN TRAIN, IN OHIO, Oct. 16.—(UP)—President Roosevelt entered Ohio today, supremely confident that the election was all over but the shouting. Through key cities of this "doubtful state" he carried a message of New Deal economic and social gains.

The President came to Ohio from Michigan where he had been cheered by enthusiastic demonstrations, capped by one of major proportions in Detroit last night. He was confident that he would carry Michigan as he was that he would be re-elected.

Today the president speaks in Cincinnati, Springfield, Columbus, and Cleveland. No speech is "major." Tomorrow he campaigns in upstate New York, delivering an important address in Albany tomorrow night. After 24 hours rest at Hyde Park he will return to Washington.

80,000 Hear Speech

Detroit police estimated that 80,000 persons heard Mr. Roosevelt's speech in Cadillac Square in Detroit last night, and other estimates ran as high as 150,000. The square was black with a crowd that overflowed into intersecting streets, that hung from the windows and roofs of hotels and office buildings. With the exception of the crowd that greeted Mr. Roosevelt in Chicago, it was the largest of his current campaign trip.

Speaking to what observers considered a predominantly labor audience, Mr. Roosevelt pledged new gains for labor from the New Deal. He said: "Detroit today is a very different city from what it was three years ago, and while the wheels of industry turn fast and unemployment is very greatly decreased, there are many problems not yet solved. I do not accept the conclusion of many Republican leaders that major depressions are inevitable in modern life. It is not enough that we have ended the days of 1932 when workers in this city received for their labor as low as five or six dollars for two weeks work. It is not enough that we

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Norma Shearer, recently widowed screen star, was seriously ill at her Santa Monica beach home today, suffering from bronchial pneumonia.

The actress, it was learned, became ill several days ago, shortly after the death of her husband, Producer Irving Thalberg.

Her physician, Dr. Verne Mason, said Miss Shearer is past the worst stage of her illness and that her condition is "satisfactory."

Miss Shearer was scheduled to appear in Superior court today to present her husband's will for probate. The will is to be presented by a representative, it was understood. Thalberg's $10,000,000 estate was left to Miss Shearer and their two children, Irving, Jr., 6, and Katherine, 1. Thalberg died of lobar pneumonia on Sept. 14.

BRITISH WOMAN ENDS HAZARDOUS AIRPLANE FLIGHT

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Jean Batten, British woman flier, arrived today, completing the first solo flight from England to New Zealand, the first woman to fly the 1,200-mile stretch over the Tasman sea.

Miss Batten was met at the airfield by a large and enthusiastic crowd.

CLEVENGER SUES HOTEL IN DEATH OF YOUNG NIECE

The Clevenger family was well known in the Kingston community.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Operators of the Battery Park hotel where pretty Helen Clevenger, New York university co-ed was killed, faced a $50,000 damage suit today.

C. D. Clevenger, the 22-year-old girl's uncle who is a professor at North Carolina State college, filed suit as the administrator of her estate, charging "gross negligence."

The suit alleges the hotel permitted pass keys to be distributed indiscriminately, failed to guard the hallways properly and left the back door to the hotel open.

These alleged acts of negligence made it possible, the suit said, for Martin Moore, Negro hall boy, to enter Miss Clevenger's room, and kill her.

Miss Clevenger was killed shortly after midnight June 16 during an electrical storm. For five weeks the crime was an insoluble mystery to police and county officers. They called in two New York detectives who soon afterwards arrested Moore and obtained a confession from him.

MRS. RYAN DIES AT 52; FUNERAL SUNDAY AT 2:30

BANKERS URGE CHANGE IN OHIO LIABILITY LAW

tors. So-called double liability by actual experience has meant less than five cents to depositors.

"More than 99 per cent of the accounts in Ohio banks are already insured in full and double liability is not only out-of-date but also stands in the way of banking progress. This is a forward-looking movement of public interest and all proper effort should be made to secure a prevailing 'yes' vote. It does not affect liability already assumed. If the public understands this somewhat technical issue, it will approve it."

The question is in no way a political issue, Superintendent Squire pointed out, since it received the overwhelming approval of both parties when members of the General Assembly placed it on the ballot.

J. H. Warndorf, cashier of the Citizens Savings Bank & Trust Company, Hamilton, and president of the Ohio Bankers association, spoke to the bankers on the necessity of electing qualified men and women to public office without regard to political party. He also urged that a complete and detailed survey of banking be conducted in order to make the business more responsible to the needs of the public.

Other speakers on the program included David M. Auch, secretary of the Ohio Bankers association, Columbus, and Terry Smith of Mayfield, Ky.

Mr. Newwahr, president. Bankers from the following counties attended the meeting: Adams, Brown, Clinton, Fayette, Gallia, Highland, Jackson, Lawrence, Pickaway, Pike, Ross, Scioto and Vinton.

THE AUTOMATIC MAESTRO
Centromatic UNIT
AMERICAN-BOSCH UNIT

EVERY night is a "good" radio night—with a new American-Bosch Centromatic Radio. Programs which seemed mediocre become brilliant and have pep. Radio personalities emerge from the "obscurity" of poor reception. You enjoy radio as though you were sitting right in the broadcasting studio itself.

Applaud the "Automatic Maestro" for this new advance in realism. The "Automatic Maestro" is a separate unit in American-Bosch Centromatic Radio which multiplies your enjoyment of radio. It hushes the harsh intruding noises. It coordinates the re-creation of sound. It summons forth the true expression of music, speech and song.

The "Automatic Maestro" enables you to tune in more long and short wave stations. It brings you extra performance from metal tubes. It eliminates noise both ON and BETWEEN stations. It introduces to radio a new standard of dependability.

There's a new radio treat awaiting you and your family when you hear the American-Bosch "Automatic Maestro." The new sets are here—and they're beautiful. Come in and hear them.

Liberal trade-in — liberal terms!

D.R., ADVISOR TO FR. COUGHLIN, TALK ON TRAIN

Nothing Given Out About Conference, Believed to be About Priest

CONFAB LASTS 15 MINUTES

Detroit Speaker Arrives Home;
In Seclusion

DETROIT, Oct. 16—(UP)—Many speculated today on what Bishop Michael J. Gallagher, ecclesiastical superior of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, and President Roosevelt said to one another last night aboard Mr. Roosevelt's private train.

Presumably only two men—Mr. Roosevelt and the Rev. Gallagher—knew. They were not talking.

The meeting added a new piquancy to the dramatic mystery revolving around the dynamic radio priest who was one of President Roosevelt's strongest supporters in 1932 and in 1936 is one of his more bitter opponents.

Repeated reports from Vatican City have said that the highest authorities of the Roman Catholic church have objected to some of Father Coughlin's heated political utterances. Bishop Gallagher admitted that he had reprimanded him for calling President Roosevelt a "liar." Cardinal Facelli, papal secretary of state, is in this country on vacation, but, according to reports, also to discuss Coughlin's activities.

Against this background, fell the announcement that Bishop Gallagher, who, under ecclesiastical procedure, is the spiritual superior of the radio priest, was having dinner with President Roosevelt.

At the dinner hour, a white-haired, kindly old man, wearing the Bishop's red vest, climbed aboard President Roosevelt's private car. Reporters settled down to wait several hours, until the dinner and the usual friendly after-dinner conversation had been concluded. But, 15 minutes later, the old man left the car. He announced that he had nothing to say was driven away by his chauffeur.

Meanwhile Coughlin had arrived at his home at Royal Oak but was available only to his closet advisors. He had been last seen in Boston where he had made a speech in behalf of the third candidacy of William Lemke, but had left there without announcing his destination.

CLARKSBURG

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society which sponsored the chicken supper served at the M. E. church here Tuesday netted a neat sum for their efforts and are very grateful for the patronage afforded them.

Robert Hurst, of Dayton spent Wednesday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hurst.

Mrs. Ora Jones spent Wednesday with her daughter, Mrs. Howard Whitaker, in Chillicothe.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Peck and children, Mr. and Mrs. William Tarbill motored to Lake White and Serpent Mound Sunday and picked enroute.

The Estell Chapel Ladies Aid will serve a chicken supper at the church Tuesday evening, October 20th. Every one is invited.

The Ross County Brotherhood will meet at Richmondale Tuesday October 20th. It is hoped that many from here may attend.

A dance will be held at the Community House, Friday, October 16 from 9 to 1 o'clock. Carl Brooks' eight piece orchestra from Wellston will play. The proceeds will be used to make repairs at the Community theater.

Shirley Temple Sued for $500,000

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD Shirley Temple, child film star, and her parents are defendants in a suit for $500,000 filed in Hollywood by Jack Hays, film producer. Hays seeks that amount as the discoverer and trainer of the child actress, alleging Shirley's parents broke a contract signed in 1932. Shirley and Hays are shown above in a photo taken several years ago.

Special services at the churches Sunday, October 18, will consist of a Communion at Mt. Pleasant and a baptismal service at Clarksburg at 10:45.

The Fourth Quarterly Conference will convene at Clarksburg on October 23 with the new district superintendent, Dr. Ira Jones, in charge. Presidents and treasurers of the various organizations are expected to make reports.

Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Bower, Kingston, were dinner guests of Mrs. Mary Overly and daughters, Blanche and Mabel, Sunday.

Mrs. Cash Ater, Mrs. W. L. Hughes, Mrs. Ora Jones and Mrs. Mary Skinner attended the Lions Card party at the Elk's Hall in Chillicothe Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Delle Dawson will entertain the W. C. T. U. Wednesday, Oct. 21 at 2:30 p. m. Her assistants will be Mrs. Ora Jones and Mrs. Eliza Stakely. This will be the Parliamentary meeting in charge of Mrs. C. B. Gearhart.

Mrs. C. O. Eyerke will bring the report of the county convention and Miss Ida Hughes will conduct the devotions.

Mrs. Roy Godden, Mrs. Ivan Hyer and Mrs. Mrs. Merle Junk attended the Republican meeting for women at the Armory in Chillicothe Tuesday afternoon.

Many from here who annually attend the Fairfield county Fair at Lancaster are planning to make the trip there this week, and are looking forward to the Pumpkin Show at Circleville next week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Gilmer, Frankfort were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Voss, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ater and children of Londonderry, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Waggaman and Mr. and Mrs. James Shanton were entertained at dinner Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cash Ater. The birthdays of Miss Carolyn and Joe Ater were celebrated.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goldsberry and son, Russell, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Speakman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Anderson entertained at dinner Sunday, Mrs. Kenneth Smith, Front Royal, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Russell Anderson and daughter, Phyllis, Laurelville, and

Lutherans Hear Interesting Talks

Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood Thursday evening observed the celebration of several outstanding events of the month of October.

During the business period, Gladden Troutman, treasurer, reported on the financing of the curb and gutter in front of church, parish house and parsonage, stating that all bills were paid and that there was a surplus of $20 in the fund.

Future meetings will be held as previously, on the first and third Thursday evenings of each month. The business session over, Roy Stout was in charge of the lunch, pumpkin pie, doughnuts, sweet cider and coffee.

After this service, Pres. Luther Bower introduced Charles H. Walters as director of the evening's program of outstanding events of the autumn season; first presenting Harry Kern, who spoke at length and most interestingly on the National Corn Husking Contest, this year's contest to be held on the Oyer Farm of 485 acres at the intersection of State Routes 40 and 37, in Licking county, on Nov. 10th.

Mr. Kern stated facts relative to first state contest and how it was promoted by Henry A. Wallace of Iowa, now Secretary of Agriculture of the United States. The first state contest was held in Iowa 12 years ago, after which time eight other states organized, the nine states joining in the National Contest six years ago. Had there been Bell telephone connections for the broadcast, this year's contest would likely have been held in this county, on the Gassius McGinnis Farm, east of Whisler, in Salt Creek township.

At this year's meeting in Licking county, fifty churches will serve meals to a crowd estimated at 120,000.

Attorney C. A. Leist was next on the program, subject being "Ohio History Day." His talk on this subject and on Ohio History in general was replete with information and proved very interesting to his audience.

The ever familiar subject "Circleville's Pumpkin Show" was handled by E. Sensenbrenner, especially stressing the organization and earlier history.

By this time adjournment time had arrived, but the group insisted that Dr. G. J. Troutman come on with his talk on "Reformation."

This timely topic was well handled and even though a familiar subject to the brotherhood, many new points were brought out.

The executive committee will meet soon and arrange program for the balance of the year, the next regular meeting to be held on Thursday evening, Nov. 5.

F.D.R., ADVISOR TO FR. COUGHLIN, TALK ON TRAIN

Nothing Given Out About Conference, Believed to be About Priest

CONFAB LASTS 15 MINUTES

Detroit Speaker Arrives Home; In Seclusion

DETROIT, Oct. 16—(UP)—Many speculated today on what Bishop Michael J. Gallagher, ecclesiastical superior of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, and President Roosevelt said to one another last night aboard Mr. Roosevelt's private train.

Presumably only two men—Mr. Roosevelt and the Rev. Gallagher—knew. They were not talking.

The meeting added a new piquancy to the dramatic mystery revolving around the dynamic radio priest who was one of President Roosevelt's strongest supporters in 1932 and in 1936 is one of his more bitter opponents.

Repeated reports from Vatican City have said that the highest authorities of the Roman Catholic church have objected to some of Father Coughlin's heated political utterances. Bishop Gallagher has admitted that he had reprimanded him for calling President Roosevelt a "liar." Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, is in this country on vacation, but, according to report, also to discuss Coughlin's activities.

Against this background, fell the announcement that Bishop Gallagher, who, under ecclesiastical procedure, is the spiritual superior of the radio priest, was having dinner with President Roosevelt.

At the dinner hour, a white-haired, kindly old man, wearing the Bishop's red vest, climbed aboard President Roosevelt's private car. Reporters settled down to wait several hours, until the dinner and the usual friendly after-dinner conversation had been concluded. But, 15 minutes later, the old man left the car. He announced that he had nothing to say was driven away by his chauffeur.

Meanwhile Coughlin had arrived at his home at Royal Oak but was available only to his closet advisors. He had been last seen in Boston where he had made a speech in behalf of the third candidacy of William Lemke, but had left there without announcing his destination.

Lutherans Hear Interesting Talks

Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood Thursday evening observed the celebration of several outstanding events of the month of October. During the business period, Gladden Troutman, treasurer, reported on the financing of the curb and gutter in front of church, parish house and parsonage, stating that all bills were paid and that there was a surplus of $20 in the fund.

Future meetings will be held as previously, on the first and third Thursday evenings of each month. The business session over, Roy Stout was in charge of the lunch, pumpkin pie, doughnuts, sweet cider and coffee.

After this service, Pres. Luther Bower introduced Charles H. Walters as director of the evening's program of outstanding events of the autumn season; first presenting Harry Kern, who spoke at length and most interestingly on the National Corn Husking Contest, this year's contest to be held on the Oyler Farm of 485 acres at the intersection of State Routes 40 and 37, in Licking county, on Nov. 10th.

Mr. Kern stated facts relative to first state contest and how it was promoted by Henry A. Wallace of Iowa, now Secretary of Agriculture of the United States. The first state contest was held in Iowa 12 years ago, after which time eight other states organized, the nine states joining in the National Contest six years ago. Had there been Bell telephone connections for the broadcast, this year's contest would likely have been held in this county, on the Gassius McGinnis Farm, east of Whisler, in Salt Creek township.

At this year's meeting in Licking county, fifty churches will serve meals to a crowd estimated at 120,000.

Attorney C. A. Leist was next on the program, subject being "Ohio History Day." His talk on the subject and on Ohio History in general was replete with information and proved very interesting to his audience.

The ever familiar subject "Circleville's Pumpkin Show" was handled by E. Sensesbrenner, especially stressing the organization and earlier history.

By this time adjournment time had arrived, but the group insisted that Dr. G. J. Troutman come on with his talk on "Reformation."

This timely topic was well handled and even though a familiar subject to the brotherhood, many new points were brought out. The executive committee will meet soon and arrange program for the balance of the year, the next regular meeting to be held on Thursday evening, Nov. 5.

LATE OHIO FIELD CROPS IMPROVE IN LAST MONTH

September weather Aids
Forecaster Claim
3 Per Cent Gain

CORN MUCH BETTER

Hay Tonnage is Decreased
Despite More Acreage

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16 — Favorable weather conditions during September permitted late field crops in Ohio to mature without frost damage and October 1 the combined prospective yields was three per cent greater than on September 1 according to the report issued today by the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service. Good progress with corn cutting was made during September but this work, as well as the seeding of winter wheat, was temporarily halted by heavy rains the latter part of the month. Corn and tobacco improved materially during September and pastures made a considerable change for the better.

CORN: On the basis of October 1 reports on conditions and probable yield, the forecast for Ohio corn is 116,928,000 bushels compared with 157,608,000 bushels in 1935 and the 5-year (1928-32) average of 129,257,000 bushels.

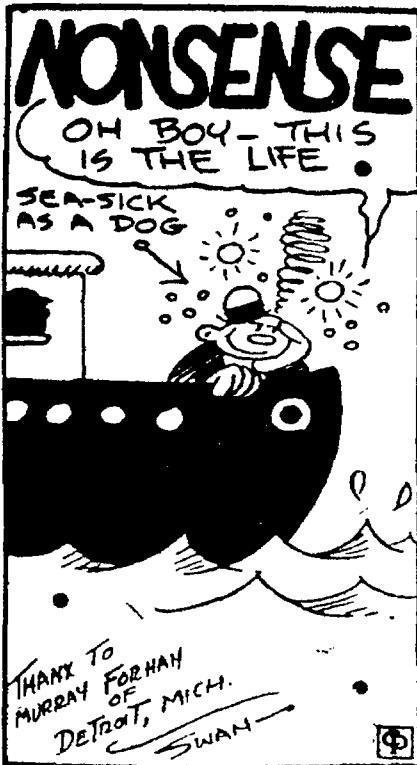

WHEAT: The 1936 production of wheat in Ohio is placed at 41,463,000 bushels compared with 46,892,000 bushels in 1935 and the 5-year average (1928-32) of 31,644,000 bushels. Production this year consists of 41,292,000 bushels of winter wheat and 171,000 bushels of spring wheat.

OATS: Production of oats is estimated at 37,721,000 bushels compared with 50,652,000 bushels in 1935 and 60,392,000 bushels, the 5-year (1928-32) average. Preliminary estimates indicate a yield of 33.5 bushels of oats per acre compared with 36.0 bushels in 1935. In northwestern Ohio, which is the heaviest oats producing section of the state, good yields were obtained this season. Oats in northeastern Ohio, however, gave rather low yields and in other parts of the state the crop was quite unsatisfactory.

BARLEY: A production of 520,000 bushels is indicated from the preliminary yield of 28.0 bushels per acre. This yield per acre is the same as the 10-year (1923-32) average. The acreage of barley has declined very materially in Ohio the past few years and production of 1936 is only about 15 per cent of the 5-year (1928-32) average of 3,548,000 bushels.

BUCKWHEAT: The buckwheat crop on October 1 gave promise of only 279,000 bushels compared with 420,000 bushels last year and 410,000 bushels, the 5-year average. There was some decrease in acreage planted this season, many crops were sown quite late and the condition of the crop on October 1 averaged only 69 per cent of normal, compared with 82 per cent one year ago and 76 per cent, the 10-year average condition.

POTATOES: Late rains and the absence of any killing frosts were quite favorable to late potatoes in Ohio. The October 1 estimate is 12,350,000 bushels while production in 1935 amounted to 16,524,000 bushels and the 5-year (1928-32) average is 11,435,000 bushels.

SCOUTS OF CITY IN USHER ROLE AT OHIO GAMES

Several boys from the Boy Scout troops of Circleville and Pickaway county are again this year serving the Ohio State University in the capacity of ushers at the Ohio Stadium for the home football games of the Buckeyes. Scouts are assigned specific posts which they fill at each game.

Scout ushers must be registered Second Class Scouts and appear at the Stadium at 11 o'clock each game day in complete Scout uniform, wearing their badge of rank. Inspection of each individual is made upon entering the Stadium by representatives of both the University and the Central Ohio Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, of which the Pickaway district is a part.

Although football ushering is regarded as a privilege offered to Scouts and Scouters who wish to serve the Ohio State University, those who render this service are reminded that seeing the game is incidental and that they are at all times on duty. Because of the many strangers who view him as a product of Scouting, each Scout or Scouter has a splendid opportunity to demonstrate courteous, effective use of his training.

The remaining home games which local Scouts who will usher will witness are Indiana, October 24; Chicago, November 7; and Michigan, November 21.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

The annual prize provided by the will of the late Joseph Pulitzer, noted newspaper publisher, for the perpetuation and advancement of American drama, has come to be known, since its inception in 1918, as a definite mark of quality. This despite the storm of protest from various quarters that has occasionally accompanied the award.

One of the outstanding winners of the Pulitzer Prize was George Kelly's drama, "Craig's Wife," which opened at the Morosco Theatre in New York City on October 12, 1925, and remained for the sensational run of 360 performances. Its stars were Crystal Herne and Charles Towne. In those celebrated roles now appear two other stars—Rosalind Russell and John Boles. And instead of the Morosco Theatre, "Craig's Wife" will be seen at the Cliftona theatre Friday and Saturday. For George Kelly's Pulitzer Prize play has been brought to the screen by Columbia, under the direction of Dorothy Arzner. Gene Autry's latest film, "Ride, Ranger, Ride" is on the same bill.

AT THE CIRCLE

Operations on the Mexican Border of smugglers, as shown in the new Jack Perrin Western, "Loser's End," now showing at the Circle theatre are by no means exaggerated. In the summer of 1933 four members of a smuggling gang fled into Mexico, pursued by U. S. Federal officers. But as the Mexican authorities happened to be co-operating with Uncle Sam's gunmen, the contrabandists literally leaped from frying pan into fire, as the Rurales, lying in ambush, shot them down like so many rabbits.

AT GOLD CLIFF CHATEAU

Dick Barrie and his orchestra will play at the Gold Cliff Chateau for the last dance of the season Saturday evening. Hours are 9 to 1 o'clock. Barrie and his band, reported clever musicians and entertainers, have been appearing at the Gibson Hotel, Cincinnati, and broadcasting over WLW.

The annual prize provided by the will of the late Joseph Pulitzer, noted newspaper publisher, for the perpetuation and advancement of American drama, has come to be known, since its inception in 1918, as a definite mark of quality. This despite the storm of protest from various quarters that has occasionally accompanied the award.

One of the outstanding winners of the Pulitzer Prize was George Kelly's drama, "Craig's Wife," which opened at the Morosco Theatre in New York City on October 12, 1925, and remained for the sensational run of 360 performances. Its stars were Cry-

OPEN LETTERS

TO COUNTY DEMOCRATS

FRIENDS: Your leaders have arranged a major rally to be held this evening in Memorial Hall. It is your duty to give your support by attending the meeting, which will be addressed by Lister Hill and Francis Durbin, both excellent orators. The county party organization has taken many steps to make the campaign this fall as complete as possible, and only through hearty co-operation of all Democrats can its work be successful. Mr. Hill is an Alabamian. He was here four years ago trying to have Franklin D. Roosevelt elected; he is back again for the same purpose. Mr. Durbin is an Ohioan, and one of the most active Democrats in this pivotal state. He will plead for election of the Democratic ticket from top to bottom, and will tell why Democrats should be named. The entire evening promises to be interesting.

CIRCUITEER

TO UPTOWN MERCHANTS

BUSINESS MEN: Many of you are showing your community spirit by painting the exteriors of your store buildings. While painting a store front may seem trivial to many, there are few projects which show more wide-awake business effort than keeping a building presentable. There are many others in the business area who would benefit materially should they, too, decide to clean up. Court and Main streets look more like real, live city streets now than they have in many years.

CIRCUITEER

TO NATURE LOVERS

DEAR FOLK: The woodlands of Pickaway and adjoining counties are now painted in their most beautiful fall colors. Arrange a trip into the hill country this weekend and enjoy a real treat. Many residents report the woodlands will be in the greatest blaze of color this week, then they will begin to fade.

CIRCUITEER

TO LEGION COMMANDERS

OFFICERS: Pickaway county Legion posts are under direction of new commanders, both of them capable veterans. Both men, Ralph D. Schumm of Howard Hall post, and Leroy Hammack of Arch post, New Holland, are able to handle the tasks confronting them. Remember, commanders, the Legion has a precedent which must be upheld. Both of you have accepted election; both of you must put forth sufficient effort to keep your respective posts functioning as expected. The commanders you have succeeded have benefitted from a year at the head of their organizations, and they can prove of much assistance to you in directing the activities of the posts. More power to both of you!

CIRCUITEER

TO BANKERS, ROTARIANS

GENTLEMEN: Circleville was pleased to have you as guests, and hopes that you return again for district conferences. Your meetings were interesting, and the fellowship that came with your gatherings will not be forgotten very soon. Local committees deserve much credit for the efforts they put forth.

CIRCUITEER

TO DR. H. R. CLARKE

DEAR SIR: If there is any magic you can work with those fancy instruments housed in that little coop in your back yard that will assure fair weather next week please start practicing your tricks. Every detail for the 33rd annual Pumpkin Show has been arranged except the weather. The sun has shined on the heads of Lancaster fair crowds, and Roundtowners are crossing their fingers when next week's weather is mentioned. This year's show promises to be the largest and finest ever staged... if the weather plays its proper part. Space sales are surpassing previous years, more floats are being decorated, exhibits and parades will be larger because of big increases in premium lists. Residents should list their entries as early as possible and do everything in their power to boost the celebration.

CIRCUITEER

TO SHOW VISITORS

DEAR FOLK: Next week thousands will flock to Circleville for the annual Pumpkin Show. Streets will be jammed with automobiles. Drive carefully, obey traffic regulations, take no unnecessary chances and enjoy the show. Crime always has a part in the celebration and a large part of it could be removed if visitors were more thoughtful. Lock your homes and do not leave articles in your cars that invite theft. There will be 35 special police officers in addition to state highway patrolmen on duty. Circleville and the Pumpkin Show society are doing their parts to keep everything in order, you do your part.

CIRCUITEER

TO HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

GENTLEMEN: Your attention was directed to three dangerous highway intersections in the county that need flasher lights or some type of warning signals that will prevent the loss of human life. Another dangerous curve, at the edge of Circleville has been called to my attention. This curve is on N. Court street where three Scioto county youths were injured, one fatally, in a collision last week. Residents of the district say the arc light prevents motorists from seeing the curve on a rainy or foggy night. Some warning signal should be placed at this curve before another life is lost in a traffic accident.

READ THIS FIRST:
 By winning a $500 slogan contest, Alice Carey came to the attention of the advertising agency where she is employed and enlisted the personal interest of John Sayre, young president of the agency, whom she secretly admires. Coming to New York following her parents' death, she has made close friends of Kathleen Crosby and her cousin, Kim Preston. Alice and Sayre begin to mix business and pleasure. She sees him frequently and begins to care for him deeply but suspects he is in love with Carol Cushing. Meanwhile Alice entertains Bill Boyd, her old sweetheart, who is visiting New York. Suddenly, Alice's position elsewhere. Alice discusses it with John. Kim proposes to Alice but she puts him off and then John tells her he is falling in love. She is amazed when Carol tells her that she has loved John had shown Alice in his office. John cannot understand why Alice's feelings towards him have changed. A few weeks later she agrees to marry Kim. (NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 22
 THE DAY she told Kim she would marry him they were having a picnic. There were only the two of them. It was a Saturday afternoon and they had taken bicycles into the country and sandwiches in a box.
 It was a pink and white and blue afternoon. The sky was a pure azure with a fleecy of cottony clouds. The pink apple blossoms covering the trees in the orchard where they rested were as festive as frocks at a garden party.
 "I can see these things but I don't feel them," Alice thought. This beauty was wasted on her. Tenements seen from an elevated train would have stirred her as much.
 A thrush burst into song.
 The leadup to Alice's "yes" came in this manner:
 Kim began to quote Keats, "... that thou, light-winged Dryad of the trees, in some melodious plot of beechen green, and shadows num-berless, singest of summer in full-throated ease."
 He finished the lovely "Ode to a Nightingale" and to herself Alice repeated the lines, "I cannot see what flowers are at my feet, Nor what soft incense hangs upon the boughs..."
 Sadness gripped at her throat.
 "It's not pink and blue and white in Mexico," Kim said. "It's fire, bright orange and green and hot hennas and faded blues. It's wild laughter and seething undertones. It's languorous as twilight and burning as the stark noon sun."
 It wouldn't be this. It wouldn't be endless days and nights.
 It wouldn't be this same world where a girl walked to and fro in a room, touching things aimlessly, staring down time.
 It was a place where you might forget, where you might become a new person, a person with everything as new as your new name. Alice Preston wouldn't be Alice Carey any more. There wouldn't be anything of her left.
 "When are you going, Kim?"
 "Any time, I hoped you'd change your mind and go with me."
 Alice wanted to ask him if he'd still want to take her if he knew that she had no heart to love him, if he'd be satisfied just to have her there to be his playmate.
 He said, "I know you're not in love with me, Alice, but we're pretty much the same. I don't believe in this love-you-forever passion that seems to get so many people all stirred up. I'm pretty keen about you and I'm satisfied with the way you feel about me. Will you take me on for Mexico?"
 "Do you really feel that way?" She quipped at him in the sun. When she did that, it made Kim think of another girl squinting up at him and saying, "You'll like Alice, Kim."
 Kathleen, Kathleen who was so different from Alice.
 "I do," he said and broke into a rollicking song in French.
 "All right," she said.
 She wouldn't tell him when she'd marry him.
 "I can't walk out on my job right now, Kim. There are too many things to be done."
 Give yourself time, Alice. Time for what?
 What was there in the whole wide world you needed time for? All you need is something to fill this timeless void!
 Neither of them thought to tell Kathleen about it.
 Something had occurred between John Sayre and Alice, Kathleen knew. What it was she did not know. Alice had looked it up inside of her. Those first few weeks when she had come to the Crosby apartment, entering gaily, chattering enthusiastically and then fading into silence while the hurt came out to play on her face, Kathleen knew that there was a fever burning in her.

 She wanted to discover what had done this to Alice, wanted to soothe and help her but Alice had kept silent and Kathleen would not probe.
 Both these girls who were so unlike shared a distaste for the feminine trait of parading personal troubles before any eyes however friendly.
 So Kathleen could not guess the anguish that drove Alice.
 Because she was afraid that she would tell Kathleen, afraid that speaking his name would bring John Sayre out of her heart with fresh grief, she turned to Kim. Kim was not a young man to inspire confidences and Alice knew well enough no man wants to hear about another who was to Alice what John Sayre was.
 Kim kept her from thinking too much, from her endless prowling. With him she was active. They played fast tennis, hiked in the country, read and argued. They fought over music and over food and then they found it all amusing. Yes, Alice was glad to have Kim.
 She would have been content to have it the way it was but she knew it couldn't go on that way forever and she was seeking an escape.
 Mexico sounded far away and the day he talked about it, she wanted Mexico. She wished that she could have gone with him without marrying him.
 But after she said she would, she was glad if not happy. She would have Kim. She wouldn't ever be alone again.
 She'd been alone entirely since she had come to New York. Friends like you. They have affection for you but they don't love you. Perhaps Kim—who said he didn't know what a "love-you-for-ever passion" was—would love her.
 Perhaps, in time, she'd forget the way dark eyes looked under a quizzical brow. Perhaps, in time, with Kim's hand to hold her own, she'd find edges of the dagger that rested under her heart less sharp.
 Perhaps she wouldn't feel her face grow red and then drain to white just because she thought she saw a familiar step.
 Perhaps some day she wouldn't mind going into a restaurant, to the theater or even on the streets.

More power to both of you!

CIRCUITEER

TO BANKERS, ROTARIANS

GENTLEMEN: Circleville was pleased to have you as guests, and hopes that you return again for district conferences. Your meetings were interesting, and the fellowship that came with your gatherings will not be forgotten very soon. Local committees deserve much credit for the efforts they put forth.

CIRCUITEER

TO DR. H. R. CLARKE

DEAR SIR: If there is any magic you can work with those fancy instruments housed in that little coop in your back yard that will assure fair weather next week please start practicing your tricks. Every detail for the 33rd annual Pumpkin Show has been arranged except the weather. The sun has shined on the heads of Lancaster fair crowds, and Roundtowners are crossing their fingers when next week's weather is mentioned. This year's show promises to be the largest and finest ever staged . . . if the weather plays its proper part. Space sales are surpassing previous years, more floats are being decorated, exhibits and parades will be larger because of big increases in premium lists. Residents should list their entries as early as possible and do everything in their power to boost the celebration.

CIRCUITEER

TO SHOW VISITORS

DEAR FOLK: Next week thousands will flock to Circleville for the annual Pumpkin Show. Streets will be jammed with automobiles. Drive carefully, obey traffic regulations, take no unnecessary chances and enjoy the show. Crime always has a part in the celebration and a large part of it could be removed if visitors were more thoughtful. Lock your homes and do not leave articles in your cars that invite theft. There will be 35 special police officers in addition to state highway patrolmen on duty. Circleville and the Pumpkin Show society are doing their parts to keep everything in order, you do your part.

CIRCUITEER

TO HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

GENTLEMEN: Your attention was directed to three dangerous highway intersections in the county that need flasher lights or some type of warning signals that will prevent the loss of human life. Another dangerous curve, at the edge of Circleville has been called to my attention. This curve is on N. Court street where three Scioto county youths were injured, one fatally, in a collision last week. Residents of the district say the arc light prevents motorists from seeing the curve on a rainy or foggy night. Some warning signal should be placed at this curve before another life is lost in a traffic accident.

READ THIS FIRST:
By winning a $500 slogan contest, Alix Carey earns a promotion in the advertising agency where she is employed and enlists the personal interest of John Sayre, young president of the agency, whom she secretly admires. Coming to New York following her parents' death, she has made close friends of Kathleen Crosby and her cousin, Kim Preston. Alix and Sayre begin to mix business and pleasure. She sees him frequently and begins to care for him deeply but suspects he is in love with Carol Cushing. Meanwhile Alix entertains Bill Boyd, her old sweetheart, who is visiting New York. Suddenly offered a better position elsewhere, Alix discusses it with John. Kim, who follows her, puts him off and then John tells her he is falling in love. She is amazed when Carol displays a bracelet that John had shown Alix in his office. John cannot understand why Alix's feelings toward him have changed. A few weeks later she agrees to marry Kim.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 22

THE DAY she told Kim she would marry him they were having a picnic. There were only the two of them. It was a Saturday afternoon and they had taken bicycles into the country and sandwiches in a box.

It was a pink and white and blue afternoon. The sky was a pure azure with a fleecy of cottony clouds. The pink apple blossoms covering the trees in the orchard where they rested were as festive as frocks at a garden party.

"I can see these things but I don't feel them," Alix thought. This beauty was wasted on her. Tenements seen from an elevated train would have stirred her as much.

A thrush burst into song.

The leadup to Alix's "yes" came in this manner:

Kim began to quote Keats, ". . . that thou, light-winged Dryad of the trees, in some melodious plot of beechen green, and shadows num-berless, singest of summer in full-throated ease."

He finished the lovely "Ode to a Nightingale" and to herself Alix repeated the lines, "I cannot see what flowers are at my feet, Nor what soft incense hangs upon the boughs . . ."

Sadness gripped at her throat.

"It's not pink and blue and white in Mexico," Kim said. "It's fierce, bright orange and green and hot hennas and faded blues. It's wild laughter and seething undertones. It's languorous as twilight and burning as the stark noon sun."

It wouldn't be this. It wouldn't be endless days and nights.

It wouldn't be this same world where a girl walked to and fro in a room, touching things aimlessly, staring down time.

It was a place where you might forget, where you might become a new person. A person with everything as new as your new name. Alix Preston wouldn't be Alix Carey any more. There wouldn't be anything of her left.

"When are you going, Kim?"

"Any time. I hoped you'd change your mind and go with me."

Alix wanted to ask him if he'd still want to take her if he knew that she had no heart to love him with, if he'd be satisfied just to have her there to be his playmate.

He said, "I know you're not in love with me, Alix, but we're pretty much the same. I don't believe in this love-you-forever passion that stirred up. I'm pretty keen about you and I'm satisfied with the way you feel about me. Will you take me on for Mexico?"

"Do you really feel that way?"

She squinted up at him in the sun. When she did that, it made Kim think of another girl squinting up at him and saying, "You'll like Alix, Kim."

Kathleen, Kathleen who was so different from Alix.

"I do," he said and broke into a rollicking song in French.

"All right," she said.

She wouldn't tell him when she'd marry him.

"I can't walk out on my job right now, Kim. There are too many things to be done."

Give yourself time, Alix. Time for what?

What was there in the whole wide world you needed time for? All you need is something to fill this timeless void!

Neither of them thought to tell Kathleen about it.

Something had occurred between John Sayre and Alix, Kathleen knew. What it was she didn't know. What it was she didn't know. What it was she didn't know.

She minded now because she might meet him.

One afternoon she was crossing Grand Central when she thought she saw him. For an instant the big terminal swayed and her legs felt strange and weak.

If she were married to Kim—she changed that thinking: When I am married to Kim—I'll have a haven. I'll know that I can't feel that way about John. I'll have that nice, safe little thought to carry with me.

Girls don't have broken hearts forever. People don't carry wild grief a lifetime. He isn't dead. Oh, no, he isn't dead! But this is worse! If I were a widow, people would come and grieve with me, accept my sorrow. But I've lost my love and I must hide it. Even if people knew, they would be im-patient.

She felt sorrow for all the women in the world who know that grief as great as death's grief. Those women who cannot wear their mourning, who have no right to the dignity of sorrow.

"To be tragic is to be chic; to be discontented is to be dowdy."

She had read that somewhere in a magazine. It brought a bitter smile to her face. Even a bitter smile was rare for her.

She managed to appear happy when she was with Kim.

"Alix, I told Kathleen last night. She wants us to come over for a supper party Sunday night." Kim said to her.

That Sunday lacked but a few days of being the anniversary of that first party Kathleen had given when Alix was present.

Again there were the organdie frocks, the white flannels, supper on the terrace. This year Alix sat with her back to the view toward the river. Was it only a year since she had sat in that same twilight and vowed in her heart that John Sayre would know her one day?

He would never come through that door now.

She wished that the party were over.

Kathleen had kissed her when she had come in, had murmured that she was glad, but that was all. The others left and Kathleen, Kim and Alix were alone. Kathleen looked drawn and tired.

Kim bent to kiss Kathleen and she drew back. Alix saw her draw away.

She saw Kim's startled expres-sion and her eyes went quickly to Kathleen's.

Then she knew that Kathleen loved Kim.

All auxiliary members are invited.

Mrs. Albert Henderson, of Manchester, district president of the seventh district will be present. All district presidents and state officers will be in the receiving line.

Business Women Meet

A delightful social time was enjoyed during the supper hour Thursday evening when members of the Business and Professional Women's club met with Miss Charlotte Phelps, S. Court street, who is a past president of the club.

Twenty-two members assembled with a covered dish dinner and were assisted in serving by Miss Florence Dunton.

Miss Minnie Palm had charge of the business session. Invitations were read from the Ironton club to attend the annual birthday celebration which will be held Sunday, October 18, and from the Newark club for its Founder's Day dinner for Sunday, October 25.

Miss Palm then introduced Mrs. G. A. Snyder (Dolly Voll) treasurer of the club at Union City, Indiana, who gave some interesting facts on how the clubs are financed in her state.

Mrs. Blanche V. Kellogg, the new city health nurse, Mrs. O. H. Dunton and Miss Dunton were guests of the club.

Sunday School Class

Mrs. Cora Beougher, assisted by Miss Ethel Klingensmith, entertained members of the Willing Workers Sunday school class at their home in Washington township, Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Creation Kraft, president, was in charge of the business meeting.

Mrs. Sterley Croman conducted the Bible studies and contests. The contest was closed at this meeting and the losing side will entertain the winners and their families at a covered dish dinner on the regular meeting date in November at the home of Mrs. Turney Kraft, in Washington township.

Logan Elm Grange

The regular meeting of Logan Elm Grange will be held in the Pickaway township school building on next Tuesday evening, October 20, at 7:30 o'clock.

The program will be in charge of Hoyt Timmons.

Personals

Millard Hosler, of Long Beach, California, a former resident of the Atlanta community, is here for a visit with his brothers, C. D. Hosler, Atlanta, and Laff Hosler of New Holland and sister, Mrs. L. F. Thomas, of Wayne township. This is his first visit to Ohio in thirty-four years.

Mrs. William Reid and daughter Miss Hazel, of Frankfort, were business visitors in the city, Thursday.

Mrs. Samuel Morris, E. Franklin street, and Mrs. William B. Cady, S. Scioto street, attended the Lancaster Fair, Thursday.

Mrs. E. M. Blower, of Gloucester, is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. G. D. Phillips and family, N. Court street.

CREAM SPICE CAKE

Two cups flour
Two cups brown sugar
One-half cup butter
One cup sour cream
Three eggs or five egg yolks
One teaspoon soda
Two teaspoons cloves
Two teaspoons cinnamon
Two teaspoons allspice
A little ginger and nutmeg.

If the cream is too thick, add a little sweet cream. Cream butter and sugar, add beaten eggs and stir well. Sift all the dry ingredients together and mix alternately with the cream. Bake in a moderate oven for 35 to 40 minutes.

MRS. FLORENCE STEELE, 403 S. Scioto street

PEACH ICE CREAM

Two cups crushed peaches
Three-fourths cup of sugar
Pinch of salt
One teaspoon vanilla extract
One teaspoon almond extract
Two egg whites beaten with the sugar
Two egg yolks
One cup of whipping cream
Stir twice while the cream is freezing.

HEN PHEASANT FOUND RESTING IN WISE'S YARD

There must be plenty of pheasants in Pickaway county for hunters this fall judging from an experience Fire Chief Talmer Wise had Thursday.

When the chief entered the front yard of his home, across the street from the fire department, a hen pheasant flew up and headed out over the eastern section of the city.

Chief Wise said the bird "about scared him to death."

OHIO STATE-MINNESOTA GAME CAPTURES INTEREST IN BIG TEN CIRCLES

WILDCATS HOPE TO STOP BUCKS AND PASS PLAYS

McDonald May Prove Star With His Power and General Ability

MINNESOTA TO CONTINUE

Indiana and Nebraska Meet in Big Time Contest

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Ohio State's Buckeyes rolled west today with the answer to whether the Big 10 is a two-horse race or a typical western conference battle any tough club can join.

Four weeks ago, hardly an observer in the midwest saw more than the crushing speed, power and deception clearly visible at Minnesota and Ohio State. Now there's Northwestern—the sharp-fanged Wildcats, who whipped Iowa, buried North Dakota State almost under wraps, and now are stalking larger prey.

Where are they headed? Coach Lynn Waldorf doesn't know. He's afraid they're overrated, although Northwestern's stout line never has been punctured and its crafty backs have not been trapped by any forward passing attack.

McDonald Watched

Ohio may have the answer for this. The Bucks possess a hard-running fullback in Jim McDonald and they still are convinced they have a passing attack despite the fact Pittsburgh shut it off with apparent ease.

Other major games in the midwest Saturday bring together:

Michigan at Minnesota—the little brown jug is in for another year in Minneapolis, for the Golden Gophers rule heavy favorites to run their consecutive victory chain to 20 against the Green Wolverines. Coach Bernie Bierman hinted he may start Tuffy Thompson, who

He's THE CAPTAIN

CHUCK CHERUNDOLO
Penn State

ONE OF THE youngest captains of a major football team is Charles J. (Chuck) Cherundolo, center and field leader of the Penn State eleven.

Chuck has just turned his twentieth birthday, and was elected captain when he was 19.

The Penn State youngster, a handsome son of a coal miner, is from Old Forge, Pa. Chuck went to a small high school and entered Penn State without any football reputation. He soon made one, however, with his bruising play.

When you talk to this young man about sports, you talk football and nothing else. For Chuck is a specialist in the grid line. He played basketball in high school but didn't care too much for it.

Chuck is a giant, six feet two and weighs 200 pounds. He dropped 20 pounds during the summer, working with a pick and shovel on Pennsylvania highways.

Coach Higgins of Penn State regards Chuck as the best center in college football and one of the best he's ever seen. Chuck is the kind of fellow you just about had a field day against Michigan last fall, in place of Andy Uram at left halfback. "Just a hunch," he said.

Illinois at Iowa—This may prove a battle of razzle-dazzle if the field is dry. Illinois, still looking for a spot to break out with all the tricks Bob Zuppke stored up for Southern California, should out-dazzle Iowa, but how can it stop Oze Simmons or Bush Lamb?

Purdue at Chicago—The luckless Maroons, better balanced without Jay Berwanger but sadly lacking punch or leadership, expect to do a lot of running against Purdue—most of it chasing Cecil Isbell, John Drake and Wayne Gift of Purdue. Coach Clark Shaughnessy hopes to score with Lew Hamity's long passes, but it should be a breeze for the Boiler-makers.

Indiana at Nebraska—This is In-have to kill to get out of a game. He has played nearly every quarter for two years.

When he gets through with school, the Penn State captain wants to play pro football if he can't get a job of coaching right away.

About This And That In Many Sports

Game in Jeopardy

The Circleville-Marysville football game next Friday in the Union county city appeared in jeopardy today as a result of health officials fearing an infantile paralysis epidemic in Marysville. Tiger school officials are certain to cancel, or postpone, the game if there is any danger of such being the case. Four children are reported afflicted in the last week. All schools were closed Thursday.

Tried to Change

Faculty Manager E. E. Reger tried to have Coach Jerry Kingsmore of Marysville arrange another date for the annual encounter while the schedule was being drawn, but Kingsmore refused. Reger believed the Tigers would play much better ball if the game were scheduled at a time other than Pumpkin Show week. Several of the Tigers were expected to go to Delaware Saturday afternoon to see the Bishops and St. Xavier meet.

Just One Feather

'Tis Friday, and again predictions—The record to date has been not so hot, but then a lot of other prognostications have been upset, not by upsets in the games, but because an unusual number of early season games have been difficult to dope. The only feather in the janitor's cap has been the prediction that Fordham would defeat Southern Methodist.

Dozen or More

Here goes with a dozen or so of Saturday's best: Ohio over Northwestern, Nebraska over Indiana, Army over Harvard, Iowa over Illinois, California over U. C. L. A. Yale over Navy, Princeton over Penn. S. M. U. over Vanderbilt, Georgia over Rice, Duke over Georgia Tech, Purdue over Chicago, Minnesota over Michigan, Notre Dame over Wisconsin, Xavier over Ohio Wesleyan, Colgate over Tulane.

FOUR TILTS TAKE OHIO ATTENTION IN GRID WARS

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Four contests with vital bearing on races in three conferences and the chase for mythical state championship, headline a 20-game weekend schedule for Ohio teams.

Only two minor games are scheduled for tonight, but on the outcome of battles tomorrow will hang the fate of highly regarded eleven in the Western Buckeye and Ohio conferences.

Ohio State, with its national championship aspirations shattered, seeks titular consideration in the Big Ten when it meets Northwestern at Evanston.

Miami, the "mystery team" of the Buckeye conference and the championship nominee of many since the downfall of Ohio Wesleyan, the pre-season choice, has a fast-developing University of Dayton eleven as its first major obstacle.

Undeclared and untied Muskingum and Heidelberg clash at Tiffin in the headline Ohio conference battle.

At Cleveland, two more teams with perfect records, Baldwin-Wallace and Western Reserve, meet in a contest that may produce the level that ultimately will have the strongest claim to state championship honors.

LANDRUM BOOKS CENTERBURG '11' FOR UNDERGRADS

Tiger Coach Jack Landrum has obtained a football game for his freshmen and sophomores to be played Saturday, Nov. 7, in Centerburg, Knox county, where he formerly coached.

Most of the boys playing on this year's Centerburg team started their football under Coach Landrum. While he hardly expects his underclassmen to win from the Centerburg varsity the training under fire will do them a lot of good.

GEHRIG NAMED MOST VALUABLE BASEBALL STAR

CLEVELAND, Oct. 16.—(UP) Lou Gehrig, New York Yankees first baseman, today was voted the most valuable American league player to his team in the annual poll taken by a committee of the Baseball writers association of America.

Gehrig polled 73 votes against 65 for his nearest opponent, Luke Appling, Chicago White Sox shortstop.

Four members of the committee of eight chose Gehrig first. Three picked Appling, Charley Gehringer, of the Detroit Tigers, was the only other player to receive 10 votes for first.

Third place went to Earl Averill of the Cleveland Indians, who received 48 votes. Gehringer was fourth. Joe Di Maggio, Yankees' sensational center fielder, polled two second-choice votes, counting nine points each.

DRESSEN REHIRED

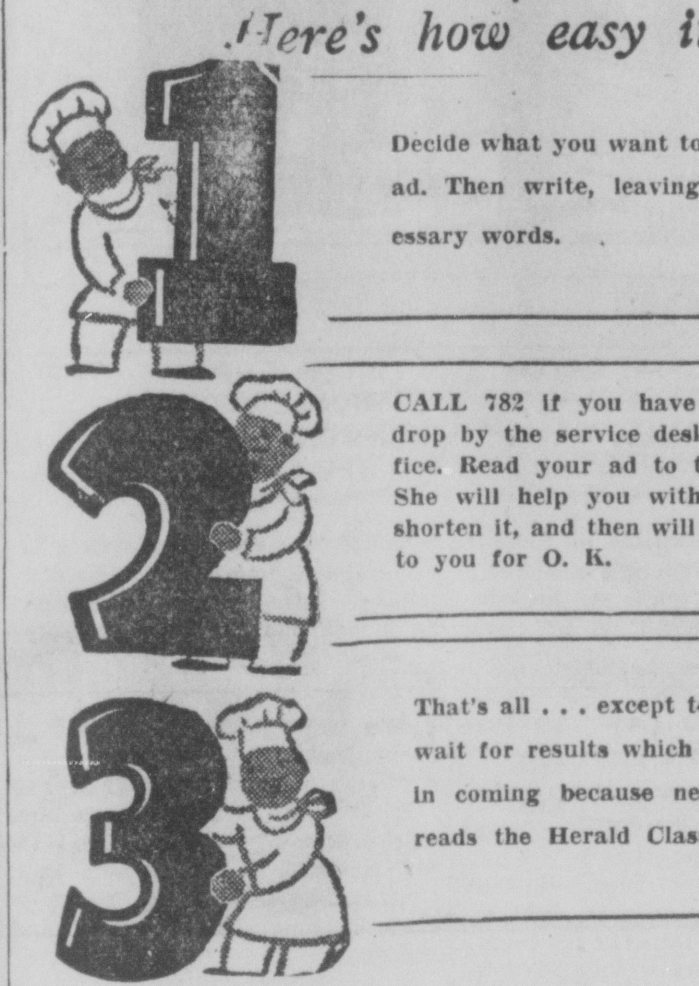

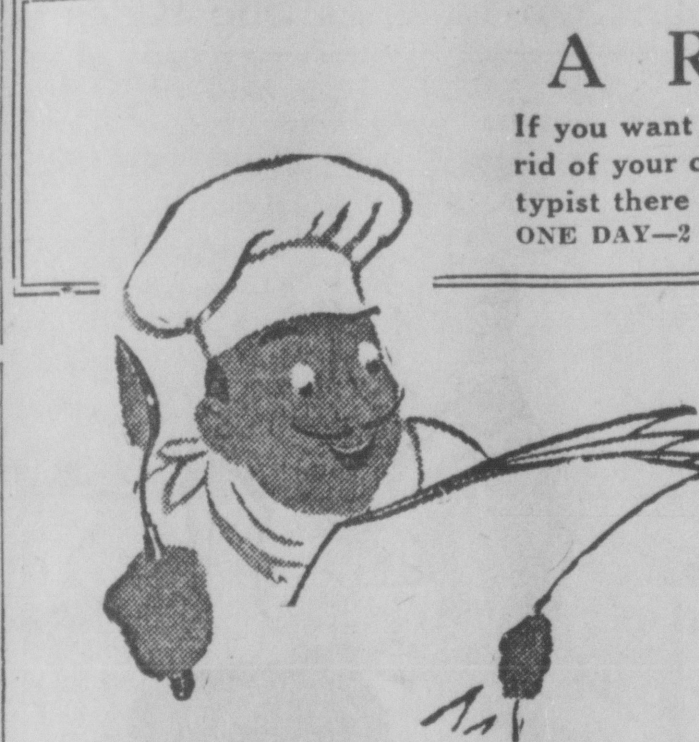

CINCINNATI, Oct. 16.—(UP)—A vote of confidence, not as emphatic as was purportedly requested, but nonetheless satisfactory, had been given the dynamic little Charles (Chuck) Dessen, field manager of the Cincinnati Reds, today.

ZUPPKE DISPLEASED

THOMPSON MAY START
MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Minnesota slowed down to a brief signal drill and review of plays today after a final stiff workout. The squad was in excellent condition for the game here tomorrow with Michigan. Coach Bernie Bierman hinted he might "on a hunch" start "Tuffy" Thompson at left half instead of the redoubtable Andy Uram.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

A SIMPLE PROBLEM

I SAW THIS deal played some time ago, but I do not recall who played it or where it was played. I merely noted down the bidding and play. After North had shown both black suits, South obtained a contract of 4-Hearts. Play to fulfill the contract is not difficult, but South has to play carefully.

The opening lead was the K of diamonds. Dummy played low. East played the encouraging 8. Declarer played low. West followed with the 10, as bottom of his sequence. It was possible that otherwise dummy's 9 might win the trick, with declarer holding the Ace back. Dummy played low. East overplayed his Ace, then led back his last card of the suit, which declarer trumped.

The Ace of spades was led, followed by the J. Dummy's Q won. Dummy's 2 of hearts was led. East played low. Declarer's 10 picked up West's lone 9.

Declarer had won 4 of the 6 tricks played. He led the K of clubs and overtook with dummy's Ace. The 8 of hearts was led from dummy. East saw no use in winning with the Ace, so dummy was left in lead. West let go one of his useless diamonds. Dummy's lowest spade was led. East had to follow suit. Declarer ruffed, to reduce his trumps to only two, the same number held by East.

Dummy was regaining by leading the J of clubs and overtaking with the Q. Declarer did not know whether East held a side spade or a side club. If he led dummy's good club, only to have East ruff, but if he led the good spade and East ruffed, declarer could over-ruff, so the spade was led from dummy. East discarded his last club, and so did declarer.

Dummy held only two clubs. East held only the A-Q of hearts, while declarer had the K-J of that suit. Defenders had previously won two diamond tricks, now East could win a single trump trick, but no more, so the contract was fulfilled.

After declarer had ruffed the third lead of diamonds there were only two places where defensive play could have been changed. The first place was where dummy's lower trump was led through East. The second was where the 8 of hearts was led through East and allowed to hold the trick. Obviously it could have done East no good in either instance to have covered with the Q, as that would have enabled declarer to win with his K, then put in East with his Ace of hearts. Nor would it have benefited East in either case to put up his Ace, as after that South would have continued his strategy of forcing East to ruff first.

RIENDSHIP, SECURITIES, PEACE STRESSED AT DISTRICT ROTARY MEETING

TWO SPEAKERS INTEREST 125 CLUB MEMBERS

KARL HERRMANN PRESIDES

Memorial Hall is Scene of Eight-City Session

Friendship, types of securities and peace were highlights of the inter-city meeting held in Memorial Hall Thursday evening attended by approximately 125 Rotarians from throughout Ohio. Delegations were present from Chillicothe, Portsmouth, Lancaster, Logan, Washington C. H., Greenfield and London with the Circleville club as host.

Major Norman Imrie, Columbus newspaperman and lecturer, kept Rotarians shaking with his wisecracks and huge store of jokes and at the same time handed them a solid line of philosophy in his address on "Securities."

He cited three types of securities. The major displayed worthless stock certificates that "had been sold to a man whose father was born in Edinburgh."

Character Artifices
The second type was military certificates awarded for four years of service in the Canadian and American forces. "These certificates are investments of character," the major said. "They were paid with blood stained revenue. No man would take any amount of money for his certificates of this type."

"I hope the rising generation has the quality of fortitude, courage and ability to take it on the chin. In every generation there has been a war. The only thing that will ever prevent war is the creation of strong public opinion against it. A youth 20 years of age has lived through two extraordinary things already. First the World war, then the depression."

The third type of security he presented was that represented in high school and college certificates. "These certificates are investments in culture, and knowledge," he continued. "They give a glimpse into the great fields of knowledge and sciences. They give you the road maps and keys to explore new fields to test your ability. Old age has no terror for the man who has invested in this type of wealth."

"Circleville was established on a Rotary wheel," Tom J. Summers, of Marietta, governor of the 22nd district told those present. He referred to the ancient earthworks on which this city was founded. Copies of the pamphlet "Why Circleville?" were presented every person present.

Friendship Stressed

The district governor stressed the importance of friendship in business, community, national and international affairs. "Without the hope of world peace there would

Frank Fischer, superintendent of Circleville high school, welcomed the visiting delegations explaining the purpose of the meeting was to form new friendships and cement old ones. Art Howson, president of the Chillicothe club, gave the response. The invocation was given by the Rev. L. C. Sherburne. Karl J. Herrmann, president of the local club, presided at the meeting and introduced the various delegations. Mrs. Herrmann was pianist for club singing led by Mr. Howson and two members of the Greenfield club. Dinner music was furnished by the Circleville high school orchestra. The dinner was served by members of the Auxiliary of Howard Hall post, No. 134, American Legion.

Mayor "Eliminates" Trio
From Pumpkin Show Week

Mayor W. J. Graham's threat to keep trouble makers out of Pumpkin Show crowds was put in practice Friday morning.

Vessie Wilkes, 20, and Ralph Coffill, 18, both of Kingston, and William Dewey, 45, of Lovers Lane, went to the county jail to serve out fines of $25 and costs each for being drunk and disorderly. All were arrested Thursday night.

"I'm going to hang up every trouble maker that comes before me," the mayor said. "We are not going to be bothered with any of them during the Pumpkin Show."

FRENCH FOREIGN POLICY TO FACE
DRASTIC CHANGE

PARIS, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Urgent reorientation of French Foreign policy was foreshadowed today as fresh diplomatic problems complicated Belgium's switch to a policy of neutrality.

Putman, 32, both of Frankfort, posted $5 bonds Friday morning to appear at 7:30 p. m. before Mayor Graham on drunk and disorderly charges.

Elisha Young, 40, of Garrison, Ky., posted $10 bond to appear on a disorderly charge.

have saved many homes and put thousands of people to work. I believe that it is the duty of government to bend every effort to prevent another major catastrophe such as that which hit this country as a result of the Republican leadership which ran government from 1921 to 1933."

He said that while the automobile industry had paid a highly hourly rate, but due to layoffs the annual wage was very small. He said he had stressed to manufacturers the necessity of spreading the work in order to increase the annual wage and that steps had been taken to obtain that result.

Again he said that the New Deal had saved the country and had solved the depression. He said that "relief and work relief through the use of federal funds saved American humanity and that his administration had restored the national purchasing power."

"It is my belief that the people of Detroit," he continued, "like the people of the rest of the country, are going to ask on November third that the present type of government continue rather than the type of government which in its heart still believes in the policy of laissez faire and the kind of individualism which up to only three and a half years ago frankly put dollars above human rights."

CREIGHTON CAR IS FOUND AFTER THURSDAY THEFT

The 1935 Hupmobile sedan of O. C. Creighton, of Atlanta, stolen from a New Holland street Thursday night, was recovered in Columbus early Friday after it had been abandoned in a garage.

The thief, who escaped, told attendants at the Columbus garage the car was "hot" and officers were after him.

Mr. Creighton had left his car at the Stewart & White garage in New Holland for repairs, Sheriff Charles Radcliff said. After the car was repaired it had been parked on the street near the garage. When attendants went to drive it back into the garage Thursday night it was missing. Previous to the theft the garage had received a telephone call to pull a car out of a ditch and found the call was a trick pulled by the auto thief.

Proprietors of the New Holland garage notified Sheriff Radcliff and Columbus police of the theft. About 12:30 a. m. Sheriff Radcliff received a call from Columbus police the car had been abandoned and was not damaged.

It is my belief that the people of Detroit," he continued, "like the people of the rest of the country, are going to ask on November third that the present type of government continue rather than the type of government which in its heart still believes in the policy of laissez faire and the kind of individualism which up to only three and a half years ago frankly put dollars above human rights."

LOYALISTS DESPERATE

MADRID, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Loyalist machine gunners turned their fire on their own men today to stop the retreat on Madrid before the seasoned soldiers of the nationalist army.

From the front, on a line 18 miles west of Madrid, came despairing appeals for reinforcements.

FRIENDSHIP, SECURITIES, PEACE STRESSED AT DISTRICT ROTARY MEETING

TWO SPEAKERS INTEREST 125 CLUB MEMBERS

Major Imrie Pleases With Humorous, Philosophical Talk Thursday

KARL HERRMANN PRESIDES

Memorial Hall is Scene of Eight-City Session

Friendship, types of securities and peace were highlights of the inter-city meeting held in Memorial Hall Thursday evening attended by approximately 125 Rotarians from throughout Ohio. Delegations were present from Chillicothe, Portsmouth, Lancaster, Logan, Washington C. H., Greenfield and London with the Circleville club as host.

Major Norman Imrie, Columbus newspaperman and lecturer, kept Rotarians shaking with his wise-cracks and huge store of jokes and at the same time handed them a solid line of philosophy in his address on "Securities."

He cited three types of securities. The major displayed worthless stock certificates that "had been sold to a man whose father was born in Edinborough."

Character Artifices

The second type was military certificates awarded for four years of service in the Canadian and American forces. "These certificates are investments of character," the major said. "They were paid with blood stained revenue. No man would take any amount of money for his certificates of this type."

"I hope the rising generation has the quality of fortitude, courage and ability to take it on the chin. In every generation there has been a war. The only thing that will ever prevent war is the creation of strong public opinion against it. A youth 20 years of age has lived through two extraordinary things already. First the World war, then the depression."

The third type of security he presented was that represented in high school and college certificates. "These certificates are investments in culture, and knowledge," he continued. "They give a glimpse into the great fields of knowledge and sciences. They give you the road maps and keys to explore new fields to test your ability. Old age has no terror for the man who has invested in this type of wealth."

"Circleville was established on a Rotary wheel," Tom J. Summers, of Marietta, governor of the 22nd district told those present. He referred to the ancient earthworks on which this city was founded. Copies of the pamphlet "Why Circleville?" were presented every person present.

Friendship Stressed

The district governor stressed the importance of friendship in business, community, national and international affairs. "Without the hope of world peace there would be no reason for Rotary overseas," he said. "People of the world will love, trust and believe in each other then they know each other better through friendship. Rotary asks every man to give his best, be proud you are members of a club that is striving for peace and satisfaction."

Frank Fischer, superintendent of Circleville high school, welcomed the visiting delegations explaining the purpose of the meeting was to form new friendships and cement old ones. Art Howson, president of the Chillicothe club, gave the response. The invocation was given by the Rev. L. C. Sherburne. Karl J. Herrmann, president of the local club, presided at the meeting and introduced the various delegations. Mrs. Herrmann was pianist for club singing led by Mr. Howson and two members of the Greenfield club. Dinner music was furnished by the Circleville high school orchestra. The dinner was served by members of the Auxiliary of Howard Hall post, No. 134, American Legion.

Key Containers Given

All who attended the meeting were presented souvenir key containers made by the Kippy Kit Co.

Seeks Congress Seat

MISS Melinda Alexander, a leader in the movement to establish a U. S. academy of statecraft, is the Republican candidate for congress in the Twenty-first New York (city) district. She opposes the Democratic incumbent, Joseph A. Gavagan. Miss Alexander has been in public life since she was 17 years of age.

Police Chief William McCrady warned school children Friday to stop the practice of riding two on a bicycle and standing on the sides of cars. Both of these practices may cause serious accidents, he explained, and police will conduct a drive to stop them.

Dr. C. G. Stewart and Dr. Dudley V. Courtwright will leave Sunday for Lexington, Ky., for a week's vacation. They will be joined Wednesday by Dr. G. L. Hitler and Charles Mason.

Mayor "Eliminates" Trio From Pumpkin Show Week

Mayor W. J. Graham's threat to keep trouble makers out of Pumpkin Show crowds was put in practice Friday morning.

Vessie Wilkes, 20, and Ralph Coffill, 18, both of Kingston, and William Dewey, 45, of Lovers Lane, went to the county jail to serve out fines of $25 and costs each for being drunk and disorderly. All were arrested Thursday night.

"I'm going to hang up every trouble maker that comes before me," the mayor said. "We are not going to be bothered with any of them during the Pumpkin Show." Allen Wilken, 37, and Arthur

FRENCH FOREIGN POLICY TO FACE DRASTIC CHANGE

PARIS, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Urgent reorientation of French Foreign policy was foreshadowed today as fresh diplomatic problems complicated Belgium's switch to a policy of neutrality.

Putman, 32, both of Frankfort, posted $5 bonds Friday morning to appear at 7:30 p. m. before Mayor Graham on drunk and disorderly charges.

Elisha Young, 40, of Garrison, Ky., posted $10 bond to appear on a disorderly charge.

have saved many homes and put thousands of people to work. I believe that it is the duty of government to bend every effort to prevent another major catastrophe such as that which hit this country as a result of the Republican leadership which ran government from 1921 to 1933."

He said that while the automobile industry had paid a highly hourly rate, but due to layoffs the annual wage was very small. He said he had stressed to manufacturers the necessity of spreading the work in order to increase the annual wage and that steps had been taken to obtain that result.

Again he said that the New Deal had saved the country and had solved the depression. He said that "relief and work relief through the use of federal funds saved American humanity and that his administration had restored the national purchasing power."

"It is my belief that the people of Detroit," he continued, "like the people of the rest of the country, are going to ask on November third that the present type of government continue rather than the type of government which in its heart still believes in the policy of laissez faire and the kind of individualism which up to only three and a half years ago frankly put dollars above human rights."

CREIGHTON CAR IS FOUND AFTER THURSDAY THEFT

The 1935 Hupmobile sedan of O. C. Creighton, of Atlanta, stolen from a New Holland street Thursday night, was recovered in Columbus early Friday after it had been abandoned in a garage.

The thief, who escaped, told attendants at the Columbus garage the car was "hot" and officers were after him.

Mr. Creighton had left his car at the Stewart & White garage in New Holland for repairs, Sheriff Charles Radcliff said. After the car was repaired it had been parked on the street near the garage. When attendants went to drive it back into the garage Thursday night it was missing. Previous to the theft the garage had received a telephone call to pull a car out of a ditch and found the call was a trick pulled by the auto thief.

Proprietors of the New Holland garage notified Sheriff Radcliff and Columbus police of the theft. About 12:30 a. m. Sheriff Radcliff received a call from Columbus police the car had been abandoned and was not damaged.
